

VIQ Solutions - Windows Vista compatibility

VIQ Solutions has been keeping pace with changes to the Windows operating system since the release of Windows 95 nearly 12 years ago. We have been cautious to ensure that what we offer our customers is well tested and accepted. We are very excited about the opportunity to offer continued support to our Windows customers as the Windows court audio community begins the gradual transition to the Vista era.

Currently, there are no Vista drivers or Vista software updates (beta or otherwise) available from VIQ Solutions or our partners. Due to the exacting nature of audio recording software and 3rd party driver development, we are not able to provide exact dates or timeframes for when specific drivers will become available – but please rest assured that supporting Vista is a priority for us.

As soon as Vista drivers are available, either from VIQ Solutions or our partners, we will post a notice and either a patch or a point release under the Support section of our website (www.viqsolutions.com/support.aspx).

We thank you for your patience during this exciting period of change in the Windows community.
